Leakage Assessment Service

Claims Leader:

Are you seeing a significant rise in average indemnity such as the Insurance Information Institute reports has been occurring over the last several years?

Do you know all of the newly evolving sources of leakage you may currently be experiencing?

Vale Consulting Services can help.

- Our leakage assessments take into consideration your current practices and processes and how they match up against changes that our experts have observed in the current claims environment.
- Vale Consulting Services then goes well beyond the typical claim audit against your current best practices. Because the claims environment is ever changing, your current best practices may not be sufficient to control all newly emerging sources of leakage.
- We perform a claims file audit as part of our leakage assessment service which takes into consideration these emerging sources of leakage in an outcome based audit method.
- The assessment report which we provide contains not only the findings of the audit, but also a root cause analysis of each deficiency identified, and recommendations as to actions which you can take to control all of the identified sources of leakage.

Vale Consulting Services can assist you in analyzing and controlling leakage on property, casualty, worker's compensation, and litigation management.
